THIS IS A STORY OF A GAS FLAME

It Has Been Flickering Lately
Because the Demand is Greater Than Supply.

There has been a light gas pressure since the cold chills came on Tuesday morning and the cold weather and gas have been in short supply in stocks, decline. Many a housewife in Janesville has turned on the kitchen gas in the last three days and wondered at the weakness of the flame.

Superintendent Wortendyke of the New Gas Light Company was asked if the increased demand he began to run into figures at once on the increased use of gas in Janesville up to and beyond the capacity of the plant.

Double The Demand.

"There is just double the amount of gas we use now as two years ago," he said. "It is an evidence of the growth of Janesville that the demand for gas supply is growing so rapidly that we have found it impossible to expand rapidly enough to meet it. Both the equipment to make the gas and the street mains to deliver it are over-worked."

Superintendent Wortendyke said it would be necessary in order to avoid serious shortage of gas to use just as little as possible until the additional machinery now being installed was ready for operation. He expressed the hope that people would not use gas for heating their homes, because if they do it will not leave enough for cooking purposes.

Butting to Get Supply.

"The gas company is doing all in its power to rush to completion the additional machinery necessary to make all the gas its patrons want and hope by the time the new equipment to meet the work finished. Until that time we hope people will overlook minor discomforts occasioned by possible shortage of supply, for we are doing our utmost to get the plant in shape to render satisfactory," said the Paper.

Complaints are a legion from all quarters of the city and the new gas mixture is not only poor in quality but users claim that they have found it impossible to even cook with it for the past three days.

MURRAY CRANE DIES AT DALTON

who realized his health had been seriously impaired by overwork.

The immediate cause of death was given by Mr. Crane's secretary as sleeping sickness. He had been sleeping in his secretary said for four or five days.

Was Not An Orator.

An outstanding characteristic of Winthrop Murray Crane, former governor of Massachusetts and two-time a United States Senator from the state, was the fact that he attained eminence in public life without being an orator. Although he served eight years in the senate it was said that he never made what really could be called a "speech" in that time.

Senator Crane on more than one occasion in the interval from 1904 to 1913, when republican differences developed and party measures were endangered, demonstrated his ability as a lawyer.

Was Born in 1855.

Born in Dalton, Mass., April 23, 1855, the son of Zenas M. Crane, a paper manufacturer, young Crane was educated in the public schools and at Williston seminary. He never attained college but, after leaving the seminary, entered the paper mills founded by his grandfather at Dalton, and in them he maintained an interest throughout his life. For many years this mills provided the paper used by the United States government in engraving its currency, bonds and notes. Because of his interest in this industry and his desire to continue with it, Mr. Crane, at the beginning of President Roosevelt's administration, was appointed by the president as secretary of the treasury.

President Roosevelt held the "eloquent" Massachusetts man in high esteem. Crane had been unusually successful in advocating his views and in 1904 was elected to the Senate at the Wisconsin caucus. In 1902, when he was governor of Massachusetts, he was instrumental in adjusting by arbitration a serious strike of teamsters and freight handlers in Boston. Later, it is said, he suggested to the Senate to settle the matter by which the state of several hundred thousand coal miners in the anthracite fields was settled.

Held Many Offices.

Three years as lieutenant governor and three years as governor of Massachusetts preceded his election in 1904 to fill the vacancy in 1904 caused by the death of George F. Hoar. Appointed to the senate on October 12, 1904, he was elected the following January for the term ending in 1907 and elected for the term ending in 1913. At the expiration of his second term he declined to seek renomination. Mr. Crane had been a member of the republican national committee from 1892 to 1900, and again from 1904 to 1920. He was a delegate-at-large to six national conventions and to the republican national convention in Chicago he was one of the group that consolidated the delegates when they appeared hopelessly deadlocked and brought about the nomination of Senator Harding. Mr. Crane was a strong advocate of a league of nations.

Interested in Farming.

He was always interested in scientific agriculture. By the application of business methods he developed a number of orchards and farms at Dalton into a successful farm.

Mr. Crane, a native of Mass., the daughter of Robert Bennett of Astoria, Ia., in 1880. Bereft by the death of his young wife four years later he was married to Josephine Porter, a daughter of William J. Boardman, Washington.

NEW PUMP TO COST AROUND $55,000

Three Bids Submitted on 8,000,000 Gallon Outfit For Water Plant

The 8,000,000 gallon horizontal steel pump which it is proposed to install at the water plant here in 1921, will cost from $55,000 to $60,000, according to three bids opened at a special session of the board of public works at the city hall, Friday afternoon. The contract was not let, water department officials asking for several weeks' time in which to investigate the bids.

The three companies bidding on the project were: Worthington Pump & Machine Corporation, Chicago; Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Company, West Allis; and Murray Iron Works Company, Burlington, Ia.

The lowest bid offered was that of the Murray company, $49,738; the Allis-Chalmers next, with $53,900; and Worthington, $57,500. In addition the first two companies offered $4,500 estimates for complete installation.

The pump now in use at the plant is a 4,000,000 gallon outfit, that is, it has a capacity of that much in 24 hours. Two 2,000,000 gallon pumps, which have been in service 33 years, are held in reserve.

Water department officials are not wont to risk fire protection of the city on electricity.

A complaint of F. C. Bell in regard to the way paving was laid on the lake front approach to the Racine Bridge was received and placed on file. He said ditches were not taken care of properly.

MONDAY FIXED AS REGISTRATION DAY FOR NIGHT SCHOOL

Registration for night classes in the night school, which opens Tuesday will be held Monday evening from 7 until 8:30 o'clock, according to J. M. Dorrans, director. Many have already signified their intention of attending, and it is expected that the number will be much larger than that of last year which was 209.

Registration has been made this year to care for young children so that mothers can attend the classes and bring their children with them.

About 12 teachers will instruct night school classes which will be held every Tuesday and Thursday evening from 7:15 to 9:15 o'clock.

The subjects which will be taught are citizenship, cooking, menu-making and serving, typewriting, shorthand, costume design, dressmaking, machine shop practice, shop drawing, electrical work, mechanics and gas engine work, shop mathematics, and business arithmetic and correspondence.

The tuition is free, and the amount which is required as enrollment fee is returned to those whose attendance is not less than $5 per cent.

ROCK COUNTY IS FOURTH IN STATE IN ASSESSMENTS

Rock County ranks fourth in the state in the assessment of real and personal property, with an assessment of $127,997,350, according to the figures of all the counties which have just been completed by the state tax commission.

The total assessment for the state is $4,570,698,529, an increase of $502,429,926, over the 1919 assessment.

A three-year average, instead of a five-year was used by the tax commission this year for two important reasons. The main reason was that prices have advanced so within the last five years that an average for that length would not be correct. The three-year one would be much better. Another reason is that the law provides that the commission use the basis of the general assessment as the basis for tax rate on railroads in the state.

The four counties which "stood highest" are, respectively, Milwaukee, Dane, Walworth and Rock. The valuation of Milwaukee county is $847,000, Dane, $226,000,000 and Racine, $135,000,000.

Three other counties, Dodge, Fond du Lac, and Sheboygan, are more than one hundred million. Vilas county, with eight and a half million has the smallest valuation.

OBITUARY

Over 30 per cent of the stock of the Pennsylvania railroad is owned by women.

WHAT WOMEN ARE DOING

Testifying that women can operate men's business quite as well as the men do, were many interesting women at the convention. This included Mrs. Addie D. Branson of Minneapolis, Kan., a bank teller; Fanny Vosburgh, Marshfieldton, Ia., register of deeds; Fern Bauerfeld, Coffeyville, Kan., car distributor; Mrs. Katherine Lostogen, Shiloh, Ia., and transferred business to a woman; Mrs. Lila C. Miller, chief of the dental bureau; Samuel (she is really a woman) Bellale of Stillwater, an undertaker; Miss Mary Welch Hutchinson, Kan., jeweler; Ethel Bartholemew, Minneapolis, architect; Mrs. Katherine G. Emmet, court reporter, and Dr. Lester Taylor, Birmingham, Ala., a dentist.

And in strict parlance "you'd be surprised, but that isn't the half of it."

HERE AND THERE

Another Bergdolt Clue Given to Authorities

Newton, N. J., Oct. 2.—A report that he had seen Grover Cleveland Bergdolt, wealthy draft dodger for whom the federal authorities have been searching since his spectacular escape from Philadelphia, was made to the police of this county by fireholder Robert M. Smith.

Smith told the sheriff he had seen Bergdolt at 10 o'clock this morning driving rapidly in an automobile from Andover toward Hackettstown. He added that by the time he had recovered from his surprise and was sure of the identification the machine was out of sight.

She DIARY OF AN ENGAGED GIRL

THE WEDDING.
Very grandly we started off for our trip out to Montmorency. I managed to procure a hundred of rice from one of the understanding waiters, just before starting, and so did well.

Jeffrey had a purring motor waiting for us below, and we all piled in, plus hand bags, etc., of the happy pair. The trunks had already been sent off to the station.

It was a lovely trip to Montmorency, through wide avenues, and then into the winding, narrow country roads with their many charming little white villages and several huge estates. The tang in the air was exhilarating. Apple orchards began to be by, and such apples, and so many orchards. Each tree bent low with the burden of ripe fruit.

At last we came to the foot of the hill that led us up to the great stone church at the very peak, and we wound in and out among the crooked streets and houses until we reached the top.

Here we alighted, and the scene that lay before us made us gasp for delight. Far, far away, and great, lay silver and gold, the French, a very rich, fine city, and the Seine looked like a silver ribbon, snaking its way to the hills just beyond.

Quietest old church was this, too, and the foot approach to it is a narrow, crooked path that runs right up to the iron railing that guards it from the rest of the world.

Creak and creaked, and creaked, about the windows of the beauty around us, and he whispered to me that after the ceremony we must manage to slip away for the afternoon and explore this lovely country. I said I would do my best to persuade mother to let us have an afternoon to ourselves for sketching, and then at this point in our conversation the smiling-old curate arrived upon the scene, and led us into the church.

Glorious old church it is, too, one of the oldest in France, and with its most exquisitely stained-glass windows, we had never seen anything so beautiful in my life before.

The air of the whole place inside was redolent and sweet with the Heart and Home Problems

By ELIZABETH THOMPSON
Thompson, in Care of the Gazette

Letters may be addressed to Mrs. Thompson. Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl fifteen years of age. Do you think it is all right for me to have company? My parents do not object? I want a nice boy friend, but they are scarce. There seem to be plenty of boys who would like my company, but I don't like them.

I have a brother who is very mean to me. He thinks I am foolish, what he says and thinks, and, and when he beats me terribly. Mother won't object. When she says anything to him he sasses her. He is seventeen. What would you advise me to do?

Also, my father is mean to me. He curses me. Sometimes when mother tells me to do something, and he comes to me and tells me to do something, I tell him I am busy at what mother told me to do. It makes him angry. He threw a shoe at me once and hurt me bad. Once he threw a cup of boiling coffee at me. We were of the break-the-law type. My sister and I were talking. All at once he threw the coffee in my face and told me to be quiet, he wanted to talk. Don't you think he should have told me to be quiet?

Father also has ordered me to leave home and never return. He did not like his sister, too, and she left. He will be glad to see her again. She was fifteen when she left. I want to go away and get some money and clothes to go through high school. I have a very good place and know I would see my time and be taken care of.

I expect to go next week. It is far from home, but I shall be accompanied by my cousin.

GRATEFUL.
No, little girl, you are old enough to have company. Give thought to your studies and your girl friends for about two years longer, and then you will have time enough to enjoy the company of young men.

BOYS' GLEE CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

The first meeting of the Boys' Glee Club was held Friday at the high school, more than thirty attending. The following officers were elected: Myrtle G. Gandy, president; Charles Newman, vice-president; Walter Feltz, secretary and treasurer; and Albert Dennisson, librarian. Charles Newman was elected social chairman.

The Glee clubs of the school are planning many activities for the coming year. Last spring, under the supervision of Miss Florence Snyder, musical director of the high school, they presented "The Nautical Knot" for three performances. The Apollo Club, which had been successful in several social events, last year the meetings were held on Thursday night but it was decided to hold them on Tuesday nights hereafter at 7:15 sharp.

ANNIXUS.
It is not right to let the young man kiss you. I have given the same answer to thousands of questions similar to yours, and will probably be asked the same question again. The best answer I can give is that he cannot kiss you and see that he respects your word.

"Bob": Your two most interesting letters reached me. It is not possible to give you the space they deserve in this already-crowded column. Even when you do not hear from me, I want you to know that I welcome your letters. I am glad your trip was a success. The camping out part appealed to me especially.

SPECIALIST ASSERTS MAC SWINNEY IS NOT FED.

London—Sir Norman, a noted specialist who visited Lord Mayor Mac Swinney recently in Brixton prison, told Annie Mac Swinney, his sister, he was certain Mac Swinney was receiving no nourishment.

First of 48,012 BOYS IN WRITING OF SLOGANS

(True Story of a Real Boy)

Lloyd Ryall, 14 years old, of Crary, North Dakota, is thinking seriously these days of being an advertising man. Out of 48,012 boys in a recent national contest Lloyd was the one who wrote the best caption for an advertising picture.

Down Hill with a Grin—On Tires That Win! is the slogan that won the $100 prize. It made Lloyd grin even more.

This prize was offered by a big rubber company to the boy who would think up the best and snappiest title for an advertising picture showing three boys coasting down hill on their bicycles.

Some of the others which won prizes and honorable mention were:

"Out for Mileage and Smiles."

"Real Joy for a Real Boy," "A Mile of Smiles on a Tire Worth While."

"Three Fast Friends," "Oh, Boy! What Joy!" "No Use Talking. This Beats Walking," and "Stunts and Fun All in One."

SQUEEZE THE BALL!

This is the article, this is the entry, this is the command that every fan of football coaches, day after day, whisper, speak, and shout to all players on their teams. It makes no difference where a man plays. Some day he will be called upon to squeeze the ball, even if it is merely fanning it after someone else has fumbled.

Grab it. Squeeze it. There is no other way to play football.

Many games are lost by muffed punts. Boys should practice and diligently, catching and returning high kicks.

When he was done, Mr. Luther Feeger, managing editor of The Richmond Palladium, liked the plan so well that he decided to start it.

On May 4, 1916, the first issue of The Junior Palladium was printed. It has been appearing on every Saturday since then.

Today all boys and girls in Richmond, Ind., have a newspaper of their own because a few years ago one girl and one boy wanted one, and asked for it.

Q. Why is the whisper forbidden in good society?

A. Because it isn't aloud.

WOMEN ELIGIBLE TO VOTE IN NOVEMBER TOTAL 26,500,200

Washington.—Figures compiled by the census bureau and other government departments indicate that the number of women in the United States over 21 years of age is 25,035,000 of whom approximately 26,500,000 are eligible to vote in the November election. This estimate makes little allowance for alien women, American women married to aliens and others ineligible.

Exact figures are not available on the number of women over 21 but barred from voting through various reasons. It is believed, however, that this year at least 1,000,000 of the 25,260,000 foreign-born women in the United States will not yet have become naturalized. In addition there were in 1910, according to the census about 100,000 women most of whom were living in reservations, 8,007 Chinese and Japanese women ineligible to vote, a comparatively small number of American women married to aliens and barred from voting for this reason, and a larger number involved of the half-million state statutes in harmony with constitutional provisions. The total of these ineligibles was estimated at about 1,000,000.

American women married to aliens are not eligible to vote if the justice of the peace has held, but foreign-born women married to American citizens or whose fathers have become American citizens are entitled to the ballot without naturalization proceedings.

The number of eligible male voters in the United States this year has not been determined. Based on an estimated population of 105,000,000, however, the census bureau figured that there are now 84,507,000 men in the United States over 21 years of age who probably 21,500,000 would be entitled to vote in November.

Green Bay.—A turkey shortage is predicted by fowl dealers in this part of the state. It was said that put out agents from Maryland have been touring Brown, Racine, and Door counties, buying birds from the farms for delivery in the middle of November.

TRUE VALUE

At this time of generally unsatisfactory buying conditions, it is emphasized to the thoughtful purchaser that the true value of a corset does not lie in the number of dollars you pay for it, but in the number of days it will wear beyond the life of the average corset and continue to give you the joy of possession it gave the first day you put it on.

"Well, then, this play has gone far enough," she said shortly. "I've got square with you, and by gosh, I ain't going to let you make a fool of any more. Now it is time for you geans to get out o' here. I pointed out the fellow I'd take an' there ain't another one o' the bunch. I'll even look at it. I ain't so crazy, but I'm not mad; it's only because I said it was the best of the fives that I have. Now I'm done." I picked my man an' there ain't nothin' else here I'd touch with a pair of tongs, so you might as well save your breath and get out. I don't want to talk any more to any of you."

"Stop that! I'm no dear child; I'm a woman; an' this place is mine. It is a shack. You get right out o' here, the whole kit an' caboodle of you!"

Shelly was the first to slide forth through the half-open door, glad enough to escape into the cool night air, his face burning as though on fire, his mind in a tumult of emotion. He had no sense of humor, he was not an ill-defined feeling of mortification and regret. She had been justly injured and he felt profoundly sorry for the part he had played. By heavens! She was some girl; no mere wishy-washy creature. He laughed and ignored. "I like her so. She's a good woman; there wouldn't be a better actress a'round. She's been Shelly; so you didn't even know my name?"

"Then you did know me?"

"No, I didn't. I saw you at the funeral an' I knew you wasn't no decent man. I didn't care who you was or where you came from, just so you gave me a chance to get out o' this hole. I would marry an Indian to get out."

Then that was why you took me, I guess, to get out o' here?"

She nodded.

"That's bout the size of it. I didn't take no stock in what the preacher said, for I ain't no weeping widow. Tom Shelly, an' I don't need nobody to take care o' me."

Shelly laughed.

"I made a mighty poor guess, at that," he said cheerfully, "when you picked me. I'd took you to a worse place than Ponca City."

"There ain't none," positively.

"Where is it, you sayin' now?"

"Over on the Cottonwood; bout six miles up north, up near the reservation. Ed! But it's lonely up there; not another white man in thirty miles."

"You are ranching?"

"Just startin', you might say; runnin' a few head on a free range."

"But you've got a house, a place to live in?"

SOUTHWEST LIMA

(By Gazette Correspondent.) Southwest Lima—Gardening is keeping many farmers busy at present. Mr. and Mrs. William Hookstead and a child visited friends in Avon Sunday—Frank Barker and family expect to move to Port Atkinson soon—Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Weller, a son and Mrs. Clarence Newton announce the arrival of a daughter, Saturday, Sept. 25.—Several tool adventure of disposing of their poultry Monday by delivering them to Milton Junction, and Mrs. L. E. Lovell, Janesville, were callers at the Weller home Sunday afternoon—Mrs. Smith, a former resident of Lima, passed away at her home in Milton Junction Saturday. She had been in poor health for some time—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Maxwell, Milton Junction, were callers on the Weller line Tuesday evening.

Yet this was accomplished hesitatingly and in doubt. He was at the door twice before he took his cautious course to know his right. There was no response and he used his knuckles a trifle louder, intensely conscious of a desire to turn and run away. But there was no opportunity. The latch clicked sharply and the light streamed directly into his face, fairly blinding him.

"Oh, so, is it you back again?" she asked coldly. "What did you want?"

"Just—just to have a word with you—privately," he explained lamely, blinking his eyes. "I—I thought maybe I could explain."

"Why—why this thing happened, Miss." His confusion rendered him almost incoherent. "You see, I—I don't want you to think I'm that sort."

"Oh, you don't? Well, I'm not."

BILLY WHISKERS

By FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY

As soon as Billy and his mother got through their narrow pass they turned once more into the woods. When they stopped upward. They had now passed the last of the farms and beyond them lay nothing but wooded hills and the mountains. Up and up they scrambled until at last near nightfall they came to a little grass-grown hollow bounded down from the mountains, and here, after taking a long drink, they rested. After a while they made a good meal from the tender young grass that grew at the side of the stream, and lay down again. Soon they were asleep, side by side.

It was nearly midnight and the moon was shining brightly overhead, when they were both awakened by a terrific scream, and at the same moment a soft, heavy body landed upon the hillside. Sharp claws tore his hide and sharp talons sank into the back of his neck.

It was a mountain lynx that had sprung upon Billy from the rocks above. The lynx often made his home upon the side of a goat, but they were so heavily built and are much swifter. At first the chamois did not want to let the goats join them, but finally fled.

"You are a brave young goat," she said, "and it would be a shame to keep you shut up in a pen."

The boy put down his Indian story and said gravely:

"To make people tremble like leaves at the mere mention of my name."

"Now, Billy, you see what the world is like," said his mother.

"Don't you wish that we were safely back in the home of Mr. Klausen's?"

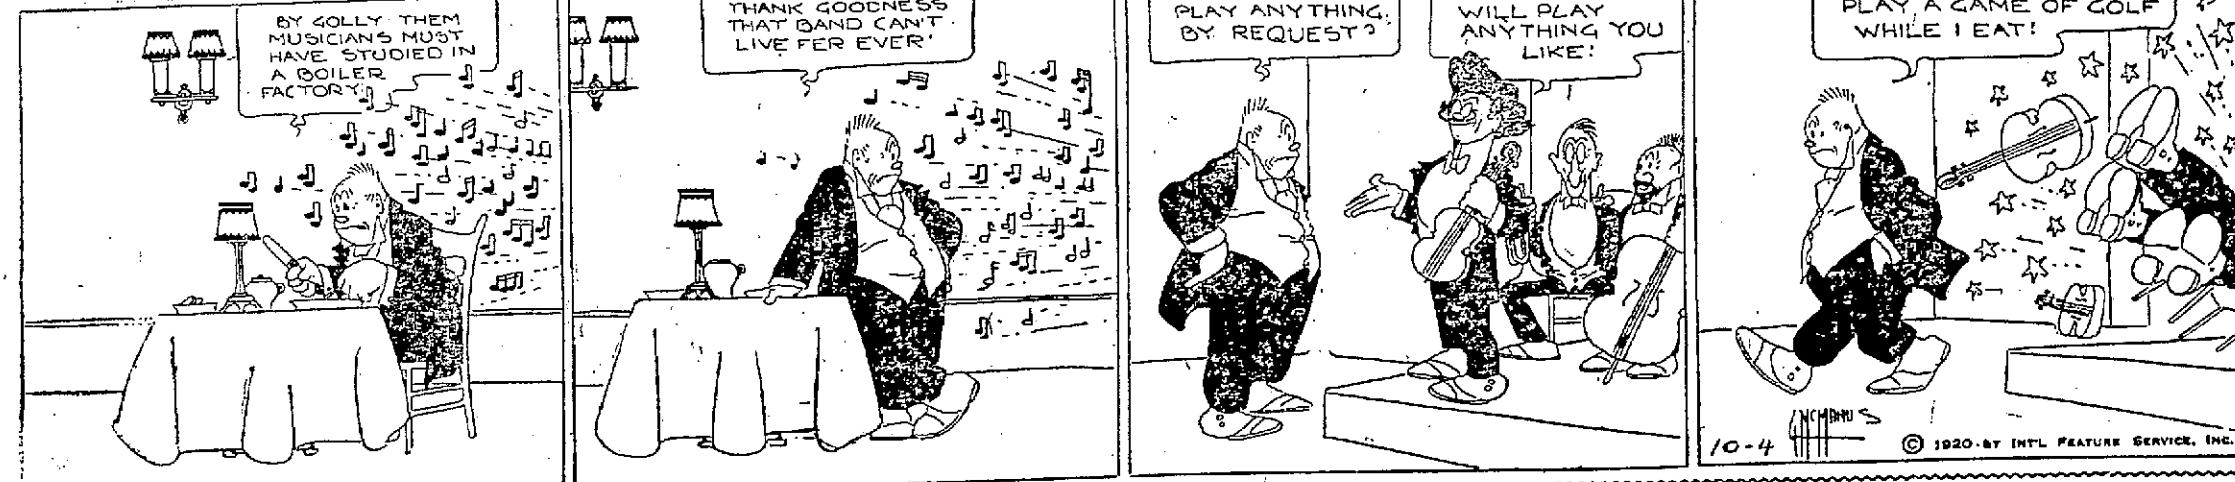

They had stopped to eat the last of their meal when they saw the lynx.

A Sunday school teacher, trying to impress her teaching about the future life upon the plastic minds of her youthful pupils, asked all those who wanted to go to heaven to stand up. Three-year-old Dora alone remained.

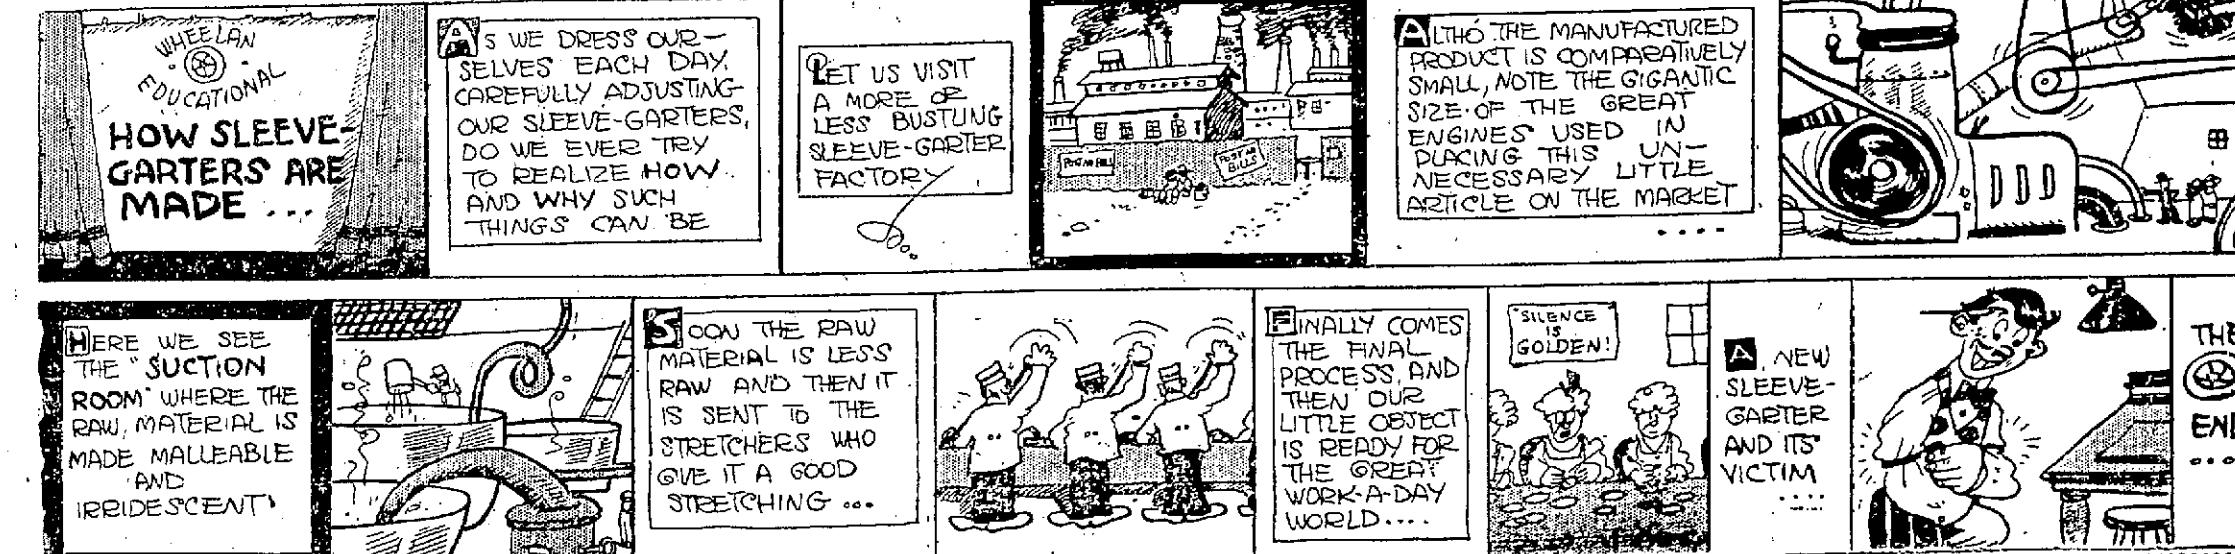

"Why, Dora," questioned the teacher, "all good little girls want to go to heaven. Why don't you?"

"No, ma'am, we ain't goin' we're goin' back to Detroit," Harper's Magazine.

PITTSBURGH NINE HERE ON MONDAY

It is possible you will see the Pittsburgh team of the National League in action against the Samson Tractors nine at the fair grounds here Monday afternoon. Arrangements for the game were completed early this afternoon by Manager George Diering.

It will be the second appearance here this year of a big league club, the St. Louis Cardinals having exhibited here last Tuesday.

The game will start at 2:45. It is probable that Dumont will pitch for the Tractors.

It is guaranteed that the visitors will come with their regular lineup. The two teams will play again Tuesday, as Madison.

EASTERN COLLEGES OPEN 1920 GRIDIRON

New York, Oct. 2.—Leading eastern colleges and universities today plunged into football season in earnest, most of them meeting teams that promised to reveal something of their gridiron caliber. Although the season is just at its start, spectators are bound to witness games will be focused made their debut today.

These included Yale, Princeton, Cornell, Colgate Army, Navy, Columbia and Pittsburgh.

One game, a gridiron novelty in the sense of a football double-header, playing both the Union college and Marshall college teams in turn at West Point. Princeton faced Swarthmore while Yale had Cornell Tech as an opponent. Cornell met Columbia while Columbia engaged against Trinity. Other games included: Brown vs Amherst; Colgate vs Susquehanna; Columbia vs Trinity; Genova vs Pittsburgh; Dartmouth vs Norwich; Harvard vs Maine; Penn vs Bucknell; State vs Cornell; Syracuse vs Vermont; Tufts vs Bowdoin; Navy vs North Carolina; Army vs Union and Marshall.

INDUSTRIAL LEAGUE OPENS FRIDAY NIGHT

Bowling in the recently formed Industrial league started off with lots of pep on both city alleys Friday night. Hansen Furniture, Rock River, Parker Pen, Samson No. 2, respectively the strongest teams, each winning three straight games.

High man for the night was Doran of theians who crushed into the maple for a total of 215 for a single game. He was seconded by Luebke of the Rock River Machine Co. with 201.

For some unexplained reason the team representing the City Police, which was scheduled to roll the Hanes, failed to show up. They lost on forfeit.

Scores:

WILLIAMS IS SURE OF PLACE ON SQUAD

Williams, Elliott and Sundt showed up especially well in practice of the Badger football squad Friday. The dove points to Williams now being assured of a place on the squad. John Sundt may have an interest in Sundt from the fact that he hails from Stoughton.

Most of Friday's work was devoted to signals.

SAMSONS IN 2 GAMES HERE WITH QUAKERS

Samson Tractors tackle White-water pennant winners of the Central State league, on the local grounds today and Sunday. Dodge will twist for the Quakers; Gregory for Samson. Dumont will probably be picked to pitch for the Tractors Sunday.

FIGHT DECISIONS

Quincy, Ill.—Charles Carter, former heavyweight champion, was awarded the decision over Paul Martin, Danish wrestler.

Dallas.—Johnny Cetnar of Toledo, Ohio, shaded George Chip of Newark, La., former middleweight champion, in 10 rounds.

Plan Public Tribunal of Prominent Men to Control Baseball Commission

Chicago, Oct. 2.—Representatives of four major league baseball clubs Friday night started a movement designed to "clean up baseball forever" by taking control of the game out of the hands of men financially interested and placing it under a "civilian tribunal" to be composed of men of unquestioned public standing.

A letter was sent to every major league club and dozens of others, telling them that the plan which was characterized as a means of "giving professional baseball to the American people—where it belongs—and taking ownership of it away from club owners and players."

The letter was signed by William Veeck, president of the Chicago American league club; Barney Dreyfuss, president of the Pittsburgh club; and John J. McGraw, vice president and manager of the New York National league club.

It proposes that the national commission be abolished because "in its present form it can not be controlled" and that "a civilian whose members should receive higher salaries than any one now connected with baseball, Gen. Pershing, Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, former President William Howard Taft, Senator Elan W. Johnson, Judge Kenesaw M. Landis, and William Gibbs McAdoo are suitable, but the better would be those who have been approached on the subject."

SAMSON FORMS GROUP OF 16 PIN TEAMS; START GAMES OCT. 11

Formation of a 16 team bowling league has been completed by the Samson plants under the direction of the Samson Employees association. First game will be rolled Monday, Oct. 11. The schedule calls for double-headers each night so that all 16 teams may play games starting at 7 and 9 o'clock.

The departments represented in the league are Personnel, accounting, purchasing, stamping, foundry, electrical, test, main assembly, tool room, parts and service, Janesville branch, metallurgical, engineering, superintendent's office, millwright and cost and time.

The league has become affiliated with the Janesville Bowling association and will be subject to American Bowling Congress rules and regulations. By joining the J. B. A. it brings about 125 new members into the organization.

Parks Are Small

of the contending clubs for the Ameri-

single game, or the likelihood of the park being filled with spectators is small.
